RICHLANDS.

Last April we began to advertise our town lots, making at that time a number of statements in regard to what we would do. Through the non-completion of the Clinch Valley extension of the Norfolk and Western our railroad facilities at that time were very limited. We had no railroad station and, indeed, one old farmhouse was the total sign of life about the place. Since then the railroad has erected a fine brick and stone freight station, one of the largest on the road, and will shortly erect a fine passenger station, while the Clinch Valley Company has spent, or is under contract to expend, $350,000. A four-story hotel, the finest in Southwest Virginia, is under roof; a handsome iron bridge, of 180 feet span, crosses the Clinch river; two second-class hotels have been built, and a large number of stores are building under contract. The company has erected a handsome three-story building for its offices, and a fine stone bank building is nearing completion. Machinery for the rolling mill is on the grounds, and the track to the coal mines, three miles away, is completed, and coal is now coming out. A steam brick plant, the most complete in Southwest Virginia, is in operation, and a large amount of grading and other work is going on. This work attracts a great deal of attention, while Richlands is merely at the end of a non-completed line. The completion of the Clinch Valley division this fall, and the running of through trains between Washington and Louisville, putting Richlands immediately on a through line, will give an impetus to the prosperity of the town sufficient to throw it ahead of all competitors, and the attention of investors is called to real estate here as giving greater promise than any town in Southwest Virginia.

A Tribute of Respect.

Misses Sadie Ferguson, Emma Comer and Rosa Profit, the committee appointed by the principal's grade of the First ward public school to draw up resolutions of respect to the memory of their late schoolmate, Miss Mamie Louise Fitzgerald, who died on the 18th of September last, paid a beautiful tribute to their deceased companion, praising her amiability, intelligence and moral excellence.

Workers in the Vineyard.

Mr. Graves Sims, the firm of Skinker & Sims, contractors, says they have had much trouble with their men at Max Meadows. A colored camp meeting is in progress at that place, also a conference, which, with the fair also in progress at this time, have almost decimated their force of employees. He thinks that the advance of religious ideas among the colored people will be a great advantage to them, but believes at present that his firm has too much of a good thing.

A Mahn for Sho.

A Times reporter saw an amusing scene at the postoffice yesterday. Two little negroes were standing at the Edison phonograph. One had dropped a nickel in the slot and was listening, when he suddenly exclaimed with a look of astonishment, "It's er mahm." The other little negro, eyeing the phonograph closely, "Taint no mahm. Let me have a ear."

Listening with one ear: "Taint no man, but that's a mahm in thar fer sho."
